Scottish Episcopal Church, Diocese of Brechin Newsletter. December, 2009, No. 37
Scottish Charity No. SCO 16813

God with Us

Advent and Christmas bring well-known phrases to our ears through the Advent and Christmas Collects. Most familiar are the opening verses of the Advent Collect:

Almighty God, give us grace to cast away the works of darkness and put upon us the armour of light, now in the time of this mortal life in which your Son Jesus Christ came to visit us in great humility. . .

This Collect, perhaps more than any other, spoken in the dark days and nights of early winter, reminds us that God is revealed, not simply through the words of prophets and wise men, through words on a page or on the lips of preachers, but in the life of a particular human being.

The struggle to understand this human life, to appreciate what it means to be faced with a God who is with us in the life of another person, Jesus, is one of the challenges of being a Christian today.

Yet it is precisely this that is asked of us. We are not called to accept or digest a full panoply of religious dogma - though the Nicene Creed can be daunting to many - nor to sign up to articles of faith that might challenge a learned theologian, but we are called upon to engage with the story of the man Jesus Christ, with its curious asides, its sometimes bewildering accounts of life and its stretched demands on our imaginations.

And that is because this is a real story about a real person who arrives in a particular place at a particular time in human history, and who calls us to follow him. A way of life that is still challenging, utterly relevant, rooted in the rest of humanity. The Advent collect talks about 'this mortal life'. That's life as we live it now—precisely where we find God in Christ.

WORLD AIDS DAY - 1st December, 2009

Started on 1st December, 1988, World AIDS Day is about raising money, increasing awareness, fighting prejudice and improving education. The theme for 2009 is: Universal Access and Human Rights. According to UNAIDS, there are now 33.2 million people living with HIV, including 2.5 million children. Around half of those who become infected with HIV do so before they are 25 and are killed by AIDS before they are 35. In the UK there are 80,000 people living with HIV, and over one quarter of those with HIV do not know they are infected. World leaders have pledged to work towards universal access to HIV/AIDS prevention, treatment and care, recognising these as fundamental human rights. Valuable progress has been made, yet greater commitment is needed around the world if the goal of universal access is to be achieved. In low- and middle-income countries, less than half of those in need of antiretroviral therapy are receiving it, and too many do not have access to adequate care services.
